

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus to accommodate differing output loads without sacrificing impedance matching in an optical modulator driver.